

Knowledge Translation Workshop: Implementing Evidence into Practice

Target audience

- Health Professionals
- Health Service Managers
- Academics and PhD students with an interest in Health Services Research and Implementation Science

About the course

Have you ever tried to get a new guideline or piece of evidence into your everyday practice, and been surprised by how long it took and how complex it was? Did you struggle to measure the project's success?

This workshop covers three-days of highly interactive and outcome focused content that covers the essential skills and knowledge needed to facilitate the implementation of evidence and innovation into everyday practice.

Course outline

This is a participatory course, with interactive group discussions, role-play and group activities. Course content will cover;

- What is knowledge translation and why is it important?
- What are the key constructs in implementation science?
- Theories, models and frameworks, and how they can help
- Who needs to be involved? How to engage and understand who needs to change
- Introduction to context assessment
- What are the strategies that will support change?
- Who are the decision makers for scaling up, and how will they decide?
- Who is going to support the change?
- Fidelity versus adaption: how much can we change the recipe?
- How do we know we have made a difference?

For further information, please contact Sarah Hunter on sarah.hunter@flinders.edu.au or (08) 8201 3120

Course presenters and panellists

Led by an internationally renowned team of knowledge translation researchers, facilitators & practising clinicians from Queensland and SA, you will learn how to set up an implementation project, how to facilitate the process and how to evaluate its impact.

Adrienne Young, Alison Mudge, Prue McRae
Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital

Alison Kitson
Flinders University

Gill Harvey
The University of Adelaide

Megan Campbell, Sonya Osborne
The Australian Centre for Health Services Innovation

Special Guests:

Jon Karnon
Health Economist, School of Public Health, University of Adelaide

Wendy Keech
CEO, SA Academic Health Science and Translation Centre

Tim Carey
Director, Centre for Remote Health, Flinders University

Details

Date: 26-28 November 2018
Time: 9:00am – 5:00pm
Venue: Flinders University, Adelaide

Cost

Standard rate: $1,800
Student rate: $995

Registration link

<https://pay.flinders.edu.au/NHS027>

Tuesday evening social event

Join your course presenters and special guests for a social event on the second evening of your workshop. This valuable networking opportunity is included in your course fee.

